While we are crying about the cold weather and trying our best to say a few words about the Alabama Power Company fight with the Public Service Commission the word slips in from the side that our natural gas cost will "probably" skyrocket. Anyway, congratulations gentlemen, and we hope this and your other actions to curtail abuses of other county vehicles indicates you will spend four years working for the people of Coffee County.

The Alabama Legislature will meet again in February. Those annual sessions we voted in several years ago are mighty dangerous. I can't begin to determine the cost of annual sessions over every other year, all year long sessions, but ye ole editor still contends that us taxpayers are better off with those politicians away from the law making chairs! I say that with tongue in cheek because laws and government are necessary as long as we are humans. Maybe ants and bees can operate without them but humans will not always do what is best for all concerned nless there is a law there to encourage such action. (P.S. since they are going to be in Montgomery anyway, I have a law or two

For several days I have been wanting to ask Foy English about his success in the fishing tournament recently. He was invited to participate because of his success at bass fishing. We understand Foy was tied for second place. The full story is more revealing however. The winner caught one fish, and it weighed less than two pounds. That was good enough to win first prize and all others were tied with zero fish for second place!

Now that deer season is over ye ole editor has a deer story to tell. A couple of weeks ago, about 10 a.m. Saturday, Sonny Inman called the CLIPPER office to report seeing an eight point buck cross from the National Guard Armory into my yard, between our house and the Thomasons'. Now Sonny felt I would question his eyesight, so his wife verified the sighting. I wouldn't dare wiggly include: Catsup - 5 bottles for $1.00, Steak - 4°c question her, but to confirm the sight, several members of the Guard were on duty and also saw the big Buck, as did a woman in the Thomason's house. I didn't dare write about this didn't dare write about this didn't dare write about this dark drough and Ground Beef - 90¢ for deer season, because our walls are not bullet proof and (some) deer hunters are pure nuts when it comes to getting the meat.

Through YOUR efforts, gas consumption was markedly reduced and - WE MADE IT!

Thanks to YOU the gas supply held out. Thanks to YOU the gas supply situation has improved. It is no longer critical; it is very definitely serious.

Yes, there is still need for strict conservation by every gas consumer. Please avoid wasting even the smallest amount of gas.

There are two months of winter still ahead of us. Nation-wide, Natural Gas is in short supply. Here in Southeast Alabama, wasteful consumption now may lead to a critical shortage later. Use Natural Gas wisely - please!

We urge great care every day in your use of Natural Gas. And we thank you most sincerely for helping out last week when we had to have your

If you don't think railroad crossings can be dangerous, ask ANN LANDERS.

Exhibit "D"

From the Los Angeles Times, August 12, 1974 Reprinted courtesy of Ann Landers Publishers—Field Newspaper Syndicate

Dear Ann Landers: I am married to a railroad engineer. My husband loves his job—except when he hits a car. Most railroaders know it's only a matter of time, because it happens to all of them My husband's time came yesterday. He is sick about it, but there was no way he could have avoided that accident. Two people died because the driver ignored the flashing signals and the whistles, took the gamble and lost. I hope every person who reads your column will ask himself if he has ever done the same thing. If he has, I hope it was the last time. It's so easy to misjudge the speed of a train in the distance. I have stopped at creesings and signals were going full blast. Some of them missed being hit by seconds.

Trains rarely can stop in time to prevent an accident. What's more, a small car, if it is hit just right, can derail a train and injure or kill the crew train and injure or kill the crew.

I know this letter is too late to help the people who died yesterday, but please print it for the sake of those who are still taking chances. When they win, they win only a few minutes. When they lose, they lose their lives.— Railroader's

Dear Wife: In all the years I've been writing this column, yours is the first letter I've received on this subject. Thank you for taking the time to write tance. I have stopped at crossings and waited while other cars passed me and it. I'll bet you saved some lives today.

> Watch for flashing red lights. Listen for warning bells and train whistles. Be aware of the sights and sounds of railroad crossings.

The ice and snow played havoc with the local sports scene last week, but it didn't stop Troy and Clio from claiming conference titles.

TROY AND CLIO CLAIM TITLES When the S.A.C. tournament was moved from Andalusia to Troy the Trojans became instant favorites to win the title. Well, they did just that! Troy defeated Opp, Geneva, and Brundidge in only two days to claim the championship. The Trojan's boast a balanced attack, with at least 8 players breaking into the scoring column in every game. Troy's wins make them favorites to win the Region title in March. Brundidge was the surprise team of the tournament, claiming three wins before losing to Troy in the finals. The Bulldogs routed Straughan and Eufaula in the opening rounds and upset Andalusia in the semi-finals. Brundidge goes full speed for the entire 32 minutes and seem to be improving with every game. Eufaula came into the tournament with a 14-0 record, but for the third straight year failed to reach the semi-finals. This year the unbeaten Tigers brought their running game to town and got run-off-the-court! Eufaula has a good team, but they simply couldn't keep up with the speedy Bulldogs.

Opp Coach Hank Kennedy has shown his true coaching ability this year at Opp. The Bobcat coach has taken a team with no experience and a lack of talent, and developed them into a winning team., Kennedy won at New Brockton but he was loaded with talent. This year he's still winning, and most of the

Down in Cofee Springs, Clio won the S.C.A.C. title by pounding Kinston. Clio has as fine a shooting team as I've ever seen! The Jackets' use a perimeter type offense, with all five players looking for a 10-15 foot shot. When one of them gets it, chalkup two points. Clio must get by Rebecca Comer to reach the state tourney, and if they do thy could be a favorite for the Class

Kinston lost to Clio, but the boys from south Coffee County are still my pick to be big winners. Kinston lacks the heighth o make a serious threat at a trip to the playoffs, but the Bulldogs could upset some folks before the season ends. Coffee Springs finished third in the conference tourney, but failed to land a player on the all-tournament team. I feel at least two C.S. players should have made the squad, but apparently the other coaches didn't. Bear Coach Wayne Purvis was upset about the absence of Coffee Springs' players on the team, but joked, "I must be a heck-of-a coack if I don't have any alltourney players, but my team finishes third!

DON'T COUNT ELBA OUT! That title might seem funny coming from me, but I think the Tigers are going to make a comeback. Last week I reported Elba lost to Geneva before the team's even played. Somebody told me they would have gone to the game, but they "knew how it was going to come out Okay, I'll admit I didn't have any confidence in Elba's cagers, and I did say they'd lose. However, after hearing the players optimism about the rest of the schedule, maybe I'll change my mind I'm picking Elba to win 12 games, at least.

Eufaula bit the dust last week, and tumbled out of the No. 1 spot. Here goes the new poll

I've heard that at least two local churches are organizing men's basketball teams. If the other churches will follow their initiative maybe Elba can start a Church League. I hope so!
